The current stage of European higher education development requires a thorough approach to the training process of Physical Education teachers, who are supposed to gain profound theoretical knowledge as well as the ability to expertly and skillfully apply their acquired knowledge, skills, and competencies in practical professional activities. In this regard, it is noted that the presented educational and professional program “Physical Culture” focuses on the pedagogical component in determining the necessary competencies and learning outcomes, particularly the ability to solve complex specialized practical tasks in the field of 01 Education/Pedagogy. This involves the application of innovative teaching methods in pedagogy, psychology, theory, and methodology of Physical Education by future professionals and is characterized by the complexity and uncertainty of the conditions of organizing the educational process in general secondary education institutions.

All educational components provided by the educational and professional program meet modern demands for the training of specialists in the field of pedagogical activity, develop key competencies, intellectual skills, and take into account the requirements of the modern labor market.

We confirm that the educational and professional program “Physical Culture” for the second (Master's) level of higher education is tailored to the requirements and can be recommended for further use in the training of higher education applicants in the Specialty 014 Secondary Education (Physical Culture).
